

Stranger Things

Prepare for a trip to the small town of Hawkins, Indiana, as you step into the story depicted in season one of Stranger Things. Stranger Things can be played as a standalone scenario, or as a side-story during any campaign.

Expansion Symbol

The cards in the Stranger Things scenario can be identified by this symbol before each card's collector number.

1

Welcome to Hawkins

"Look, I wouldn't have called you in here, if this wasn't important," the sheriff says, pausing to take a sip from a steaming mug of coffee. "Normally, my mornings are reserved for some well-earned contemplation, but there have been some...strange things happening in the town." He gestured out the window towards a town painful in its normalcy. "The Byers boy has fallen off the face of the planet, we've had our first murder in God knows how long, and I get this feeling that..." He clears his throat suddenly, as if cutting off what he was about to say. "Well the long and the short of it is I wouldn't mind having someone else taking a look at things, someone who isn't connected to this town."

If experience has taught you anything, it's that only a fool trusts the calm exterior of a quaint town. You must find young Will Byers and get to the bottom of what is turning this town upside down.

Additional Clarifications

Invincible

The Monster in this scenario has the invincible keyword. When an enemy with the invincible keyword is defeated, it is removed from play. Various effects in the scenario can then bring the enemy back into play. However, if an enemy with the invincible keyword is in the victory display, then it can no longer enter play.

The Upside Down

While investigators have "entered the Upside Down," they are not considered to be at the same location as other enemies and investigators at the same location. This means that they cannot engage, evade, attack or be attacked, or otherwise interact with enemies. The Monster is the only exception to this rule. This also means that they cannot commit cards to skill tests performed by other investigators or otherwise interact with other investigators, unless that other investigator has also "entered the Upside Down."

5

DO NOT READ until the end of the scenario

Resolution 1: Days have passed. Young Will Byers has managed to make a full recovery from his horrific ordeal and the time spent in that strange other world. There isn't much fanfare as Hawkins seems to want to forget the whole ordeal like an errant nightmare, but those who know better give you thanks as you depart.

* In your Campaign Log, record that Will Byers has been rescued. Any one investigator may choose to add Will Byers to his or her deck. This card does not count toward that investigator's deck size.

* If The Monster is in the victory display, record that The Monster was destroyed and the town is safe. Otherwise, record that The Monster survived and the town is still in danger.

* Each investigator earns experience equal to the Victory X value of each card in the victory display. Each investigator earns 2 experience as he or she reflects on what has taken place.

DO NOT READ until the end of the scenario

Resolution 3: Days have passed. The town is quiet. After fruitless searching, you were never able to find Will Byers. He was lost to the Upside Down. A funeral was held to bid him goodbye, but unfortunately no one will ever know exactly what befell him. You can only take solace in the fact that Eleven was not recovered by those who would use her as a weapon. With a solemn farewell, you leave the town behind, hoping it can find a way to recover on its own.

* In your Campaign Log, record that Will Byers was never found.

* If The Monster is in the victory display, record that The Monster was destroyed and the town is safe.

Otherwise, record that The Monster survived and the town is still in danger.

* Each investigator earns experience equal to the Victory X value of each card in the victory display.

Stranger Things

EASY / STANDARD

 -1 for each Agent enemy in play (max -4).

 -2. If you fail, the enemy at your location with the greatest fight attacks you.

 -2. If you fail, spawn The Monster at your location, engaged with you.

 -3. If you fail, place 1 horror on Eleven, if you control her.

Act 1a

The Search for Will

Will has not been seen since leaving the Wheeler residence. These kinds of disappearances are not normal for a town like Hawkins, and finding Will might help uncover what is really going on beneath the placid surface of these quiet neighborhoods.

3

5/49 5

Agenda 1a

The Vanishing of Will Byers

A young boy named Will Byers has gone missing in the small town of Hawkins. The townspeople and police have combed the area for clues but found nothing so far. Perhaps you may have more luck...

When this agenda advances: Shuffle the encounter discard pile into the encounter deck. Discard cards from the top of the encounter deck until 2 Agent enemies are discarded. Spawn these enemies at Hawkins National Laboratory.

3

2/49 2a

Act 2a

The Flea and the Acrobat

With Eleven's help, you continue the search for Will. She seems to know something about where he is, and you are more sure than ever that this isn't a normal disappearance. The trail seems to ultimately lead back to that secretive laboratory at the edge of town. You must find out what is going on there at any cost, but it won't be easy.

- The investigators spend 4 clues per investigator, as a group. Reveal Hawkins National Laboratory.

Objective – If the investigators have “gained access to the Upside Down”, advance.

6/49 6

Agenda 2a

Bad Men!

You don't know whether you are seeing things, but there seem to be strange men in suits throughout the town. They seem to be looking for something...or someone.

When the hunter keyword on an enemy would resolve: Reveal a random token from the chaos bag. If you reveal an Agent symbol, a positive number, or a 0, that enemy does not move. Enemies at the same location determine this as a group.

Forced – At the end of the round: Place 1 doom on this agenda for each Agent enemy at the same location as Eleven.

9

3/49 3

Act 3a

The Upside Down

You must enter the strange world at the other end of the gate locked within the Hawkins National Laboratory to find Will.

- Spend 1 clue if you “have entered the Upside Down”. Reveal a facedown card underneath your location. If it is an ally, take control of it.
- If you control Eleven and are at The Monster's location: Exhaust Eleven and test 7. The base value of your 7 for this test is equal to Eleven's remaining sanity. If successful, add The Monster and Eleven to the victory display.

Objective – If Will Byers has been revealed, advance.

7/49 7

Agenda 3a

At Your Door

Time is running out if you hope to find Will Byers alive...

Forced – When this agenda would advance by reaching its doom threshold: Instead, remove all doom in play and place 1 damage each on 2 different facedown encounter cards underneath locations (to a maximum of 2 on each card). If you cannot place damage, proceed to (→R3).

Objective – If an Agent enemy is at the same location as Eleven and she is not controlled by an investigator, advance.

ACT 3b

"It's Him!"

The Upside Down is a dark world filled with a perpetual fog. Tendrils wrap around every building and webs can easily snag the unwary. This is the domain of The Monster and it is an empty place aside from that horrible creature. The air is toxic and your hope of finding Will alive fades as you walk the empty streets. How could anyone survive in such a place for days on end? Finally, you find a small figure trapped within what appears to be a cocoon, an appendage filling up his mouth and throat. You hurriedly pull the boy from this structure, fearing that hope might be lost.

If Will Byers had health remaining when he was revealed, then you found him alive! (→R1).

If Will Byers had no health remaining when he was revealed, then you found him too late. (→R2).

AGENDA

3b

"We Have to Trust Them"

The mysterious agents led by Doctor Brenner corner Eleven. A group of them are sent flying through the air as she reaches out a hand, but two more grab her from behind. A slender needle enters the side of her neck, choking off her scream of protest. She slumps into the waiting arms of Doctor Brenner. You can only watch in horror as you arrive just in time to see her limp form dragged into an unmarked vehicle. It speeds off into the dark of the night as you sag to the ground, the mysterious girl forced back into being nothing more than a scientific curiosity and weapon once again.

Eleven takes 1 damage and 5 horror.

Then, proceed to (→R4).

ACT 1b

The Weirdo on Maple Street

As you are searching through the town, you come across a small figure looking desperate and scared as it stands in the pouring rain. For a moment, you are overjoyed, thinking that it must be Will, but as you come closer, you see that it is someone else. A young girl with a shaved head stands there in dirty hospital clothes, watching you with wary eyes. She does not answer at first as you ask for her name and her story. Finally, she musters one word. "Eleven."

Although she does not offer much more, it is clear from her demeanor and the few words that she speaks that she is on the run and that those she is running from have done her great harm. Although you still don't know the whole story, anyone who can inspire such fear in a child is capable of anything. Put the set-aside Eleven into play at the lead investigator's location.

Byers Residence

LOCATION

Hawkins.

The house looks normal enough. It sits up against a heavily wooded area, and there is a small shed in the back. As far as anyone knows, Will never made it home the night he went missing, but there may be some sign of what happened here.

Jim Hopper is the Chief of Police of the sleepy town of Hawkins, Indiana. The worst thing that ever happened during his tenure was when an owl attacked Eleanor Gillespie's head. The disappearance of Will Byers has suddenly changed all that, and the string of strange events has begun to pile up. Hopper's seemingly nonchalant attitude hides a tragic past, and there is no hiding the fact that he has taken the plight of a lost child personally. With his propensity for negotiating with his fists and bending the rules, Hopper will stop at nothing to find the truth.
