Healing Deck Rules

This is an optional variant for Campaign Play. Shuffle the Healing deck. Randomly pick a number of cards equal to the number of investigators. Add these to the Encounter Deck.

When drawn, they immediately go into play in front of the investigator who drew them. If discarded for any reason, place them on the Encounter discard pile.

At the end of the game, these take effect on that investigator. Note the result in your campaign log.

- These cannot be stored scenario-to-scenario.
- The effects of a card only take effect at the end of the scenario when it was acquired.
- They can nullify trauma gained from, or at the end of, that scenario e.g. Roland loses all his horror, but has Whisky in play. He is still out of that scenario, but the post-scenario Mental Trauma can be negated.
- These count as assets and can be affected by any effect that targets assets, including being removed from the game.
