

Agenda 2a

Chasing Through Bavaria

Now the guards were on your heels... Non-Plane enemies cannot enter Sky locations.

Forced – At the beginning of the enemy phase: Each non-Elite Nazi enemy in play moves 1 location closer to the Abandoned Hangar.

Forced – If the number of Nazi enemies in the Abandoned Hangar is equal to the number of investigators in the game and if the Fokker DVII is at a Sky location: Advance.

Revelation – Place The Iron Eagle on the Abandoned Hangar and place every doom token that was on agenda 2a on The Iron Eagle.

Act 1a

The Hyperborean Specialist

...your friend Dr. Milan Christopher has dropped a name on the phone that noone in the city seem to be acquainted with, unless they wanted to avoid telling you.

Forced – If a Nazi enemy enters Pr. Ernst Schäfer's location: Move Pr. Ernst Schäfer to a non-House non-Countryside empty connected location, if able.

Objective – The investigator must control Pr. Ernst Schäfer, Hyperborean Specialist or Dr. Elli Horowitz to advance.

4.21 55

Agenda 1a

The München Conspiracy

There was a suspicious amount of brown skirt guards patrolling the streets, as you felt they were keeping tabs on you... While the investigators do not control Pr. Ernst Schäfer, Nazi enemies gain Aloof.

Each Nazi enemy gains "Patrol (nearest revealed location with the most clues that does not have a Nazi enemy)".

8

2.21 53

ACT 1b

"What do you want from me?" asked the professor. "You do not seem to be with... the Baron."

The lead investigator decides whether to tell Pr. Ernst Schäfer the whole story or to withhold what you know about the Ordo Templi Orientis.

If you decide to tell the whole story to Pr. Ernst Schäfer

"If what you tell me is true, that order must be up to something. And given the recent meddling of the Baron in the planning of my expedition to Tibet, we might as well hurry. Come with me. I have made some escape preparations..."

Reveal the Abandoned Hangar. Treat Pr. Ernst Schäfer text box as if it were blank except for truth. Record in the campaign log that you "gave the truth to Pr. Ernst Schäfer". Advance to act 2A.

If you decide to withhold what you know about the Ordo Templi Orientis

After you were finished, the Professor had a dubious look on his face, that was soon replaced by a look of anxiety. When you asked him if he had plans to escape, the mistrustful professor was evasive again. "Somewhere in the countryside, I don't remember precisely..."

Advance to act 2A.

AGENDA 1b

Your various enquires were starting to draw way too much attention from the Baron and his minions. If the Baron von Sebottendorf is not in play, place him in von Sebottendorf's Mansion.

Then, if the number of Nazi enemies in play is less than the number of players in the game, discard cards from the top of the encounter deck until you discard X Nazi enemies where X is the number of enemies missing. Place all those enemies in Martenplatz.

Advance to Agenda 2a.

Act 2a

Repair the Fokker!

...the Professor had indeed smuggled an old plane and hidden it in an abandoned hangar on the Bavarian countryside. But the plane had long since seen his finest hour, and you began wondering if it would ever fly again.

Objective – When the Fokker DVII has no damage remaining, advance.

5/21 56

ACT 2b

Every investigator currently at a City or Countryside location is defeated.

The old trusty plane somehow had held on, and even if you certainly would need to refuel in the middle of Siberia, you were on your way to Tibet....

Every investigator currently at a Sky proceeds to →R4.

Act 3a

Pursuit in the Skies

Investigators at a non-Sky location cannot move to a Sky location.

Forced – After the investigator controlling the Fokker DVII moves:

- to a Sky location: Every other investigator in that location moves to the same location.
- to a non-Sky location: Choose another investigator to take control of the Fokker DVII.

Forced – If the Fokker DVII leaves play, every investigator at a Sky location is defeated.

Objective – If all Sky locations have been revealed and investigated, advance.

6/21 57

ACT 3b

Shuffle each set aside Sky location and place them in a horizontal line adjacent to the Abandoned Hangar.

Remove every Vehicle asset from the game that is controlled by an investigator in the Abandoned Hangar.

The lead investigator chooses an investigator to take control of the Fokker DVII.

That investigator must immediately test (6) as they try to get the plane to take off. Deal 1 damage to the Fokker DVII for each point of failure, then move the Fokker DVII and every investigator in the Abandoned Hangar to the adjacent Sky location.

Advance to act 3.A.
